VOLUME 28. LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY: SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 28, 1859. MBER 127.

DAILY COURIER

SATURDAY,.....MAY 28, 1859.

☞ For Latest Telegraph Dispatches, River and Steamboat News, Commercial Matters, etc., see Fourth Page.

NEW ALBANY AND SALEM R. R.—By the present time table on this old reliable route, passenger trains leave New Albany at 8.30 A. M. and 12.05 and 9.35 P. M.

Passengers leaving New Albany at 12.05 and 9.35 P. M. make close connections at Mitchell with same trains on the Ohio & Mississippi road as are made by trains on the Jeffersonville road, leaving at 11 A. M. and 10 P. M., and passengers reach St. Louis at precisely the same time—2.45 A. M and 2.30 P. M.

Passengers leaving St. Louis at 6.50 A. M. and 2.40 P. M. reach Louisville at 8.30 P. M. and 5 A. M.—in time to connect with trains on the Louisville and Lexington and Louisville and Nashville railroads.

Passengers will find this route as pleasant, quick reliable, safe and shorter than any route between Louisville and St. Louis.

Our Weekly.

The Weekly Courier is issued this morning, and can be had at the clerk's desk at five cents per copy.

Our Fourth Page.

On our fourth page, this morning, will be found the usual amount of news, miscellaneous matter, telegraphic reports, markets, etc., etc.

Our Supplement.

We issue another Supplement to-day containing several colums of interesting matter and a number of very interesting and important advertisements. Read them all!

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.—Persons of taste and refinement will do well to remember that the second weekly show of fruits and flowers will be made by the Kentucky Horticultural Society this morning, in the south hall of Masonic Temple, commencing at half-past nine o'clock. Admittance free, with the addition that all are respectfully invited to attend. It is expected that the exhibition will be a very handsome one—and at 11 o'clock all the fruits and flowers shown will be sold to the highest bidder Handsome plates of strawberries, cherries, &c., and beautiful bouquets, can thus be obtained without trouble, for personal use or appropriate gifts to friends.

This show will be a good time for new members of the Horticultural Society to enroll their names, and we respectfully suggest that our citizens may, with great propriety, show a little more liberality in this particular hereafter than they have done heretofore. The real labors of the Society devolve upon half a dozen individuals the expenses ought to be defrayed by others.

SLEEPING CARS ON THE JEFFERSONVILLE ROAD.—We made an excursion trip on the Jeffersonville railroad to Seymour and back, Thursday, in company of about one hundred and fifty persons, under the auspices of Messrs. Crothers and Little—the former the energetic superintedent, and the latter the polite ticket agent of the road. The run to Seymour was made in one hour and fifteen minutes, and ample time given to test and admire the magnificent sleeping car just placed upon the road by the enterprising managers. It is exceedingly well fitted up, with wide berths, and has accommodations for thirty-six passengers, including a ladies' cabin in the latest style, all provided with curtains and other conveniences to make a weary traveler rest in ease and comfort.

The car is fifty feet in length, and each room has a ventilator on an improved plan, and attached to the car is a neatly fitted up wash-room. This car was built at Madison at a cost of $2,500, and re-modeled and improved by Thos. W. Laidly, of Jeffersonville, at an additional cost of $500. He has, in course of construction, another car which will accommodate forty-eight persons with berths to sleep in. The cost of this car will be $2,500. Passengers who leave this city on the 10 o'clock night train can enjoy the luxury of the sleeping cars. The conductors, Andy Wauchop and Mr. Powell, were courteous and attentive, and all enjoyed the ride, admired the new car, and wished prosperity to the road and its management.

THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT OF KENTUCKY.—This highly respectable body of Knights Templar convened on Thursday last 26th at Frankfort, at its annual convocation. None of the Emcampments, save those at Frankfort and beyond, were represented, the delegations from Louisville and Hickman unfortunately missing the train, and the Encampments of Glasgow and Hopkinsville not appointing any. Lexington is selected as the place of the next meeting.

We learn that no movement was made, as contemplated last year, for severing the connection with the General Grand Encampment of the United States, but that the feeling in favor of perpetuating that union is more decided now than it has been for several years previously.

THEATER.—The benefit of Miss Louise Wells last evening was attended by one of the largest audiences we have ever seen assembled in the Lonisville Theater. The house was literally crammed from parquette to gallery. The fair beneficiary excelled herself in the different characters she personated in the "French Spy"—particularly in that of the "Wild Arab"—where her beautiful costume and superior acting drew down thunders of applause. In the afterpiece—the "Swamp Fox"—in the character of Mrs. Mott, she fully sustained her reputation.

This evening the bill is very attractive, being the "Swamp Fox," and the interesting drama, in two acts, of Jack Shepherd, on horseback. We anticipate another crowded house.

CONSUMPTION AND PARALYSIS, OR PALSY.—Particular attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Dr. Flower, headed "To Invalids," found in our inside columns. His treatment in partillay paralyzed limbs, and all other nervous diseases, is new, and for the first time introduced to the afflicted of our city. The treatment is perfectly safe, and not really unpleasant. For further particulars invalids will do well to see his pamphlet and card, which is explanatory, and free to all, at his office, on Fifth street, between Walnut and Green streets.

THE MEMPHIS FIRE.—By referring to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Frank Smith & Co., whose house was burnt at Memphis, have taken up their quarters at the office of R. C. Wintersmith, on Bank avenue, near Madison street, where they will remain until they can procure a suitable establishment in which to carry on their business. We are requested to state that the late calamity will cause no interruption in their affairs.

THAT BOX OF KEYS.—Some kind friend has borrowed a box of keys from our neighbor, A. McBride, who keeps such things, as well as locks, and all sorts of hardware and entlery to sell, instead of loaning not to be retnrned. Mac is very much ont of humor abont his departed keys, and says that if they are not returned soon, he will unlock all friendship for the borrower with another key that he never turns without opening a fuss.

☞ Mr. Nathan White will continue his sale, at auction, of a large and valuable stock of genuine gold watches and jewelry, this evening, at 7½ o'clock. During the evening will be sold a few fine gold watches of American mannafacture. Persons in want of fine watches or jewelry would do well to attend this sale.

RESIGNATION.—It will be seen by the proceedings of a meeting of a committee of the East Baptist Church, published in another column, that Elder S. H. FORD has resigned the charge of that church. The published resolutions are highly honorable and complimentary to the retiring Elder.

☞ Attention is called to the card of J. F. Thompson, who has recently commenced the auction and agency business. On Tuesday last he sold a negro woman and her two children for the sum of $1,675.

NORTHERN ICE.—We saw a beautiful, cool ice wagon paraded through the streets yesterday, labelled J. P. Cromie's Northern ice. We hope he has a supply at fair prices.

☞ See advertisement of salesman wanted.

Wharf and Canal.

We publish to-day an editorial from the Cincinnati Commercial on the subject of the Louisville and Portland canal, which we commend to the careful attention of our readers, both for the correctness of its views and the forcible manner in which it urges them.

Intimately connected with the improvement of the canal is the enlargement of our wharf facilities. When the large number of boats engaged in the Southern and Western trade are enabled to pass the falls at all stages of water, we shall need three times the present extent of steamboat wharf in front of the city. We learn that when the contemplated improvements are made, a wing wall will be built from the head of the canal along the ledge of rock ontside the basin to a point opposite Fourth street, not only to prevent boats from going on the ledge, but to increase the depth of water in the canal. If this be done, the steamboat landing must be above the mouth of the creek, and the city should commence improving that portion of the wharf at once, and prosecute it vigorously until sufficient accommodation is secured.

We understand that the owners of the square north of Washington street, between First and Brook streets, will open Water street as far east as Brook street, and donate to the city their land lying north of Water street extended, on condition that the city will enclose the space between Second and Brook streets and Water and Fulton streets, and plant it with shade trees as a sort of public grounds. This would give a space of about one thousand feet long and two hundred and fifty feet wide, and might be made highly ornamental. It is said this could be done and still leave ample wharf room between the south line of Fulton street and low water mark. But we cannot undertake to say if this would or would not be so.

We believe that $300,000 of city bonds were authorized to be issued several years since, for wharf purposes, and of that sum $125,000 remains unexpended. The wharf committees of the two boards of the General Council are now unanimously in favor of expending this sum, in improving the wharf from the mouth of the creek eastward. This course is highly creditable to the committee, and evinces not only their intelligence, but what is equally commendable, an absence of any mere local or sectional prejudice, or jealousy as to where the money shall be expended. All idea of buying property fronting on the river, and constructing a wharf from Sixth to Ninth street, seems now to be abandoned; and no one expects that money will be thrown away in making an improvement there that would be of no advantage to the public, and could give no accommodation to the shipping interests of the city.

The Council should commence these wharf improvements immediately. The squares between First and Brook streets, on Main, will now be rapidly improved, affording large quantities of material, that at a small cost, can be obtained for making the necessary fills. Other buildings in the neighborhood will also be going up, affording the means of filling up and grading the wharf without expending much money. If anything is done this season, it should be done promptly. The unfinished condition of the wharf from Brook street to the mouth of the creek, is an eye-sore to the city, that should be removed as soon as possible.

MARION RIFLES.—Our notice of the parade of this fine volunteer corps on Thursday, did not appear, as it should have done, in our yesterday morning's paper. The company went through a number of maneuvers in front of our office with great accuracy, and in soldierly style. We were pleased to see them, in force, at the theater last evening, to witness the performance of the "Swamp Fox," by Miss Wells' troupe, on the occasion of her benefit. The gallant Capt. Woodruff, and his equally gallant men, are deservedly held in high esteem by their fellow-citizens.

THE PIGEON MATCH ENDED.—This sporting affair has been suddenly terminated, Mr. Duncan not being able to come to time in consequence of a disabled arm. The $2,000 stakes will be handed over this morning to Mr. King, who is now the "champion" of pigeon shooters. Duncan's bad shooting undoubtedly lost the match; but, besides this, he was attended with singular bad luck, losing a number of his birds, which fell just outside of the bounds. King was more fortunate.

We hear that another match, and for a larger sum of money, is likely to take place, and Mr King is named in connection with it.

POTATOES.—During the last five weeks over five thousand barrels of Northern potatoes have been received, and sold in this city for consumption. They were brougbt here by steamboat and railroad. One house has sold, on an average, over one hundred barrels daily. This season too many of our home grown potatoes have been sent South. From thirty to fifty thousand barrels are sent from Louisville every season to poin ts South of us.

FINANCIAL.—Eastern exchange is scarce and firm at one-half per cent; New Orleans dull at previous rates; Tennessee, Obio and Indiana is taken at par by private bankers from customers; Illinois and Wisconsin, two per cent. discount; Missouri and Louisiana, one-half per cent. discount; Kentucky bank stocks are in demand, but very scarce. We are informed that $130 has been offered for Northern Bank of Kentucky.

NEW STYLE CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES, TOYS, &c.—D. J. Murray, dealer in toys and variety goods, Fourth street, between Main and Market, has introduced, from the East, children's carriages of an entire new style. They are really handsome, and a decided improvement on those which have long been in use. His stock of toys and variety goods is also very complete, to all of which he invites the attention of the public.

THE WRONG MAN.—Henry Shea, a boatman, was kept in jail four days, charged with a deadly assault upon Moses Thompson. The investigation took place yesterday in the police court, and according to witnesses he had nothing to do with it, but Michael Burke is the chap the law should have had in custody. It was reported yesterday to the judge that he had fled from the city, which is probable, as Thompson is likely to die. Shea was discharged.

CHANGE OF THE HOUR FOR PUBLIC WORSHIP.—A large number of the congregations of our city have agreed to have their morning service on Sunday at half-past ten o'clock, instead of at eleven as heretofore. This change to an earlier hour, in accordance with the usages of most of our large cities, it is supposed, will conduce greatly to the convenience of worshippers and their families during the hot weather. The bells may, therefore, be expected to ring from this time until the 1st of October, half an hour earlier than usual on Sunday mornings.

HEAVY WINNINGS.—We learn that a number of gentlemen of Scott county who patronize the turf, have won large sums at the Lexington races, by backing Keene Richards' splendid Albion colt, which on Monday won the best race, mile heats, ever run on that course, and yesterday won the two mile stake, as will be seen by a letter from our gay friend Balloon.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE BALLET TROUPE ENTERTAINMENT.—In going on the stage at Mozart Hall last night, Mlle Celestine Franck, the danseuse, sprained her ancle, in consequence of which the performance could not proceed. The entertainment advertised for to-night, is postponed until Monday evening. This is an excellent ballet tronpe, and it deserves encouragement.

COAL OIL LAMPS.—The best, cheapest, and most convenient coal-oil lamps we have ever seen or used, are the "Jones, flat-wick," sold by Messrs. Hardy & Robinson, Fourth street. They are managed without the slightest annoyance or difficulty, and give a greater quantity of light for less money than any other lamp in existence. They only need to be tried to be appreciated.

☞ Madame Isidore Clark, the great cantatrice will give her first grand concert on June 1st. She will be assisted by several eminent artistes. She has a full soprano voice of great purity, sweetness, and flexibility, and will be appreciated here.

☞ There will be a strawberry festival given by the young ladies, at Middletown and vicinity, on Monday, the 30th inst., for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church of that place, to which the public are invited. There will be a band of music, from the city, in attendance.

That Nigger-Stealing Machine.

If the editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer warranted the nigger-stealing machine which Douglas designed, and Farran attempted to manufacture out of non-intervention, he must send to Kentucky and take back those put to work in this State. They are doing very poor service in their cause. Our neighbor of the Democrat grows furious at being suspected of using one, and the whole thing is a failure. The people on this side of the river say it won't do to sing out non-intervention, while the inhabitants of a Territory are running off one half of their negroes by unfriendly legislation, and stealing the other half by another branch of squatter sovereignty. They are beginning to cry out protection instead of non-intervention, and to resolve in public meetings that non-intervention neither means non-protection nor precludes the wholesome doctrine of PROTECTION, when both are rightly understood. We hope the Enquirer man has not invested as much money in this machine as he did gas in his celebrated 54° 40′ speech, for if he did, his subscription list in Kentucky will never make up his losses. The indications now are, that his machine and subscription list will go out of Kentucky about the same time, and that very soon.

☞ The world's greatest benefactors are the last to receive the reward they merit. Fame waits upon the laureled warrior, who has in the pathway to his goal, trodden the life out of a million of hearts, and extinguished the fires upon a thousand hearth stones. She binds her bays upon the temples of the intrigning politician, whose whole life has been devoted to schemes for his own aggrandizement at the expense of his country. But for the conquerer of disease, for the man who sends forth from his laboratory, countless thousands of messengers of health with healing on their wings—for him, the voice of fame is mute. His only reward is to be found in the plaudits of his own conscience, and the grateful remembrance of the thousands whom he has been the means of snatching from death, or relieving from suffering. This should not be so.—The inventor of such a medicine as John Bull's Compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry, is more deserving of the gratitude of his generation than the conquerer of a continent.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONVENTION.—There was nothing of special importance done in the Episcopal Convention, which adjourned yesterday, sine die. Shelby College is to be re-organized, and conducted as a church institution. Some of the members were anxious to get clear of it entirely, because of the connection of the lottery franchise, but this could not be done without a palpable violation of the rights of private individuals.

IN BONDS.—The case of Chris. Havenstein, for shooting Justin Lachner, his brother-in-law, in the suburbs of the city, was investigated yesterday before Esquires Clement and Matlack. The shooting had its origin in a trivial matter, and Lachner wasn't much hurt. Havenstein entered into bonds in $300, to answer before the Jefferson Circuit Court. Lachner, and a witness, Chas. Heckbammer, were also held in $100, to keep the peace.

A GOOD STAND FOR SALE.—Mrs. Vacaro, who purposes retiring from business, offers for sale her tavern stand, bar fixtures, &c., on Market street, between Fourth and Fifth streets. It is one of the very best in the city, and the purchaser will get a bargain, and coin money by securing it.

THE MARKETS.—The markets last evening were well supplied. Strawberries sold at 40 cents per gallon, and cherries 60 cents. A small lot of raspberries, the first of the season, sold at $1 50. Chickens $3 per dozen; butter 30 cents for choice, and honey 25 cents per pound; vegetables abundant, and at very reasonable prices.

☞ Mr. C. C. Spencer sells this afternoon, on the premises, a brick house and lot, situated on the southeast corner of Walnut and Campbell streets, to which we call the attention of real estate buyers. The terms are easy, and the sale is without reserve.

GALT HOUSE BILLIARD SALOON.—This place of recreation and amusement is now open to those fond of this noble game. There are four new tables, with all the new improvements, including the Phelan cushion, and visitors are invited to a trial of them.

☞ The Floral Festival last night, with its beautiful flowers and handsomer ladies, was quite a fairy scene. It was the last night, but the ladies did not forget us, and we have again occasion to thank them for some ice, fruit and flowers.

SAD ACCIDENT.—A son of Wm. Sowders, who lives on Third street, was drowned, on Thursday evening, by the upsetting of a skiff in the river, below Tarascon's mills. Two boys with him escaped. His body has not been recovered.

☞ Dr. S. K. Cooley will deliver an address at the Universalist Church, corner Eighth and Market, Sunday, at 3 o'clock, P. M., in the trance state. Subject may be selected by the congregation.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.—Elder D. P. Henderson will preach at the Christian Church, corner of Walnut and Fourth streets, to-morrow, at the usual hour in the morning, and conduct service in the evening.

SAD ACCIDENT.—A son of Wm. Sowders, who lives on Third street, was drowned on Thursday evening by the upsetting of a skiff, in the river below Tarascon's mills. Two boys with him escaped. His body has not been recovered.

☞ Rev. G. Gordon will preach in the lecture room of the Associate Reformed Church, near the corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets, Sunday at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

Davidson to Margaret Neal; John McKittrick to Jane Mulligan; Wiley Edwards to Elizabeth Shorter; Patrick Cowan to Catherine Morgan; Robert Parker to Elizabeth Arnold; James Parkhill to Sarah J. Parmele; Henry O. Mercer to Maria L. Wright; Mich'l J. Murray to Kate Casaily; August Miller to Catherine Hart; Henry Walter to Louisa Klein; Jas. H. Peabody to Mary V. Dent; Geo. N. Beall to Lucretia Bird; David Dirck to Ann M. Kellner; Mich'l Curry to Catherine Ryan; Philip Fischer to Julia Ann Trier; Wm. H. Beynroth to Annie E. Sobwing; Jeremiah McCarty to Ann Manough; Jacob Ohlmeir to Christina Yeager; Franklin Willett to Mary E. Bland; Fred. J. Schoen to Margaret Frick; Paul Tem to Melissa A. Brumfield.

☞ The editor of the New Orleans Bulletin brags of having feasted already on green corn, full grown, and remarkably delicious.

The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Louisville Courier has much to say of "Democratic sheep's clothing." Where did the breed of Democratic sheep originate? Where are the lambkins to be found?—Cin. Com.

The above question is put by the editor of the Commercial, who lives in Cincinnati, and sees the 54° 40′ man of the Enquirer, and ought to know all about him. We answer, then, by asking if the editor of the Enquirer, in his pretended character of a Southern Democrat, does not look sheepish enough to be said to be an Abolition wolf in Democratic sheep's clothing, and to be the progenitor of the entire breed of sheepish Democrats You are an honest Republican, Mr. Editor of the Commercial, and although we disagree with you in politics, as black is to white, we respect you for the manly avowal of your principles. Tell us, therefore, how many of these lambkins you think might be traced to the negropolite of the Enquirer, who one day voted for the Wilmot Proviso, made a 54° 40′ speech the next, opposed the repeal of the Missouri restriction the next, voted for the Abolitionist, Day, the next, took a respite for Lecompton long enough to get the Cincinnati Postoffice, declared the next day that slavery does no exist in the Territories of the United States under the Constitution, and said the next, that the inhabitants of a Territory could abolish slavery when they pleased, during the Territorial condition, and before they came into the Union as citizens of a sovereign State? It seems to us that such a man, when he claims to be a Democrat true to the South, might be considered the head, tail and body of the entire sheepish breed, and that to designate him as a 54° 40′ negrophilite attempting the character of a Southern philosopher, or a mysterious Free Niggerite, playing the part of a slavery propagandist or an Abolition wolf in Democratic sheep's clothing, is to use epithets according to the directions of the best lexicographers.

☞ The Indiana State Prison Commissioners, it is understood, recommended Fort Wayne as the site of the new prison, but the Governor dissenting, they selected Lafayette. Gov. Villard has not yet, however, given his concurrence.

☞ Rev. Dr. Moore, of Richmond, Vt, will preach in the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning and evening.

☞ H. C. Marshall, Esq., of Cleveland, the general ticket agent of the Columbus and Cleveland Railroad route East, was in the city yesterday.

Report of the Committee of the East Baptist Church on the Resignation of Elder S. H. Ford.

Your committee, in obedience to the instructions given them, have waited on the Pastor, and freely canvassed his reasons for resigning the charge of the church; and learning from him that his decision is final and irrevocable, they would beg leave to present the following report:

WHEREAS, Our esteemed Pastor, Elder S. H. Ford, after years of labor in our midst, has felt it his duty to sever the tie which has strengthened, year after year, by mutual labor, trials and endearing associations, and which is now stronger than at any other period of his ministry among us: And, whereas, we have the full evidence that he has in this step sacrificed his own feelings, and a position of growing prominence and usefulness, against the known wishes of the church, hoping that his acts would be productive of peace in the denomination. Therefore,

Resolved, That from our long and most intimate relations with Elder Ford, as a neighbor, a friend, a brother, and pastor, we rejoice to be able to record our hearty testimonial to his private worth as a citizen, his purity and integrity as a man, his earnest devotion as a Christian, and his manly and fearless fidelity as a minister; and that in this expression of confidence and esteem there is entire and unexampled unanimity in the church, backed, so far as we can learn, by the public sentiment of this community.

Resolved, That the peace, prosperity and uninterrupted harmony which have prevailed in the church since Brother Ford's connection with it, and which still prevails, are cheering evidence that God has blessed and sanctioned the relation.

Resolved, That with deep regret we accept the resignation, and commend him and his family to the protection and blessing of heaven, and the confidence and sympathy of the Baptist denomination

E. P. KING,
S. I. EVANS,
JOHN E. HUBBARD,
J. BUSH,
R. L. MARTIN,
JOHN CONNELL,
S. O. BENNETT,
} Committee.

On motion, it was unanimously

Resolved, That the report of the committee, embraced in the foregoing preamble and resolutions, be adopted as the sentiment of this church, and that the same be sent to the Western Recorder for publication.

Done by order of the church.

POLICE COURT.

GEORGE W. JOHNSTON, JUDGE.

FRIDAY, May 27.

A FULL BENCH.—Just a dozen offenders of law were on the bench this morning, consisting of thieves, vagrants, and drunkards, and the first on the docket was a trio for DRUNKENNESS AND DISORDERLY CONDUCT.—Chas. Alliuger, Geo. Brown, and Mary Burns were called up for getting drunk. They were caught half drunk, whooping and ballooing on High street. The woman said that she was going to Portland, and the men had caught her and attempted to use her. But the character of the Burns is not above suspicion, and her story is entitled to no credence. Security was required in $100 for two months from the men, and the woman was ordered back to the workhouse.

THE CASE OF HENRY SHEA.—The case of this man, for beating Moses Thompson, was again up. Dr. McCabe stated that he was in the hospital, in a critical situation; his skull was fractured, or rather shattered, and some time must elapse before the result could be positively determined.—Up to this time there were, however, no unfavorable symptoms.

Jas. Bennett was introduced as a witness. He testified that, on Monday night, on the corner of Water and Sixth streets, he saw a man lying in the gutter, and another pounding him with bricks. Was ten feet off, but didn't see him distinctly.—He had on a blue overshirt, such as the prisoner wears. Saw him when he left, and run in the house, having in his hand, at the time, a black coat. When witness went in with the officer there were a good many in the house; pointed out the prisoner as the man; thought it was him, from his being awake; can't say positively whether this is the man who beat Thompson.

Policeman John Lamborne stated that he went into the house where Bennett said the man had gone, and found the accused, with two others, in a small bed; they were undressed, and he was not, and was awake; his shoes were down stairs, and when witness asked him why he left his shoes there, the accused made no answer.

Policeman Magnire corroborated the testimony of Lamborne.

For the witness, Miss O'Bryan said, that she saw the difficulty, and knew who beat Thompson. It was Michael Burke. When he was beating the man, witness hallooed to him not to murder that man; when he left Thompson, he came up to witness and struck her, and said "d—n you, I'll kill you;" he then left; did not see the prisoner there. I know Burke well; last saw him the morning I first came to Court; he came up part of the way and asked if I would be aware against him. I told him I must tell the truth and couldn't damn my soul for any one; haven't seen him since; he did not go into Pendergrast's house, where it was said the accused went.

Jos. Pendergrast, who keeps the house where Shea was arrested.—Witness saw Michael Burke knock Thompson down with his fist; he then went into a yard and got a piece of wood and struck Thompson. After the fight I let Shea and one of my boarders in the house; don't know whether I told the policeman that no one had come in the house that night. Witness was drunk.

The prosecuting attorney thought the circumstances were strong against the prisoner, notwithstanding the statements of witnessea for the defense; their testimony needs corroboration; he suggested the matter he laid over, that other witnesses may be summoned. This was opposed by Mr. Reasor, counsel for the accused, as unjust to his rights. The Judge said no case was made out against the accused, but witnesses also swore positively that it was Michael Burke. He therefore felt it was his duty to discharge the prisoner.

DRUNK, AND FIGHTING.—Mary Lenby and Catharine Kelly were both drunk and fighting on Gray street, near Hancock, a habit in which they indulge to the annoyance of their neighbors. The Kelly is a widow with two children, and one at the breast; $100 for one month.

LARCENY.—Mary Lyons was arrigned for stealing twenty-two yards of barege from Elvira Glover. Proof conclusive—$400 to answer felony. The accused is of a respectable family, but has fallen, and once was an inmate of the workhouse.

CHARGE OF VAGRANCY.—Dan Rice No. 2, Oscar Gallaher and Jno. Bennett, bad young men, idlers and loafers, have been hanging around Portland doing nothing, but there was no proof that they had been about long enough to constitute them vagrants, and they were discharged.

Thos. Haney, for drunkenness and abusing his family, went to the workhouse six months in default of $200 bail.

Wm. Wardlow, an old man, got tight and fell by the wayside. In consideration of his age, and the promise that he would leave town and sin no more, he was let off.

GAVE BAIL.—Mat. Leitz, Mary Hughes and Amanda Williams, were released on bail.

☞ COUNTY ITEMS.—The wheat crop in this county is unusually promising. The weather so far having been favorable, it is thought that if it continues so, Hardin county will this year yield the largest crop of wheat ever yet known in the county.—Elizabethtown Democrat 25th.

The Vicksburg Sun and Lexington Statesman.

Not long since the Lexington Statesman put forth the following Black Republican heresy in the sacred name of Democracy:

"Congressional legislation in protection of slavery in the Territories irresistably carries with it the power to legislate for its exclusion. The duty or right of Congress to protect cannot be maintained without admitting the power to abolish. If Congress can intervene for one purpose it can for the other. The South cannot assert a principle and expect to reap only its advantages. We must abide its full enforcement."

To this, the Vicksburg Sun, a sterling Democratic and Southern paper, made the following reply:

We enter our caveat against the miserable doctrine sought to be palmed upon the unsuspecting as genuine Democracy, by the "Statesman." We say miserable, and it is so, and must be so viewed by every intelligent man who reads it. If Congress, says the "Statesman," can intervene for the protection of slavery in the Territories, so it can intervene for the purpose of abolishing it. What a monstrous proposition! How utterly subversive of all good government! Because it is competent for Congress to do a constitutional act—an act founded on reason and justice, it can therefore do an unconstitutional act, though it, said act, be founded on injustice and oppression. We deny in toto the legitimacy of all such reasoning. The conclusion of the "Statesman" is a non sequiter, as any logician will at once perceive. Will it be contended that because the General Government has the power to control trade between the States, it has equal power to stop the trade in slaves, between the slave holding States? That because the General Government has the exclusive authority to legislate for the District of Columbia, it can therefore grant a law that would prevent Southern men from going there with their slaves? If the reasoning of the "Statesman" be correct on this point, that is, if Congress "can intervene for one purpose, it can for another," that body may to-morrow inhibit the inter-State slave trade, and forbid Southern men from carrying their negroes into the District of Columbia. The General Government may protect, but it may not destroy property. It is its duty to do one, but to exercise the other power, would be subversive of everything appertaining to true republicanism."

Another Voice for Guthrie for the Presidency.

The St. Joseph Gazette, a first-rate Democratic paper, published at St. Joseph, Missouri, in its issue of the 24th inst., has the following to say of our distinguished fellow citizen, the Hon. Jas. Guthrie, for the Presidency in 1860:

The name of the Hon. James Guthrie, of Kentucky, has been mentioned in several papers of that State in connection with the next Presidency, and we find that it is very generally acceptable. Mr. Guthrie is a sound, conservative Democrat, whose record stands so fair, both personally and politically, that any objection to him, either North or South, must be purely captious. We believe that he would be as acceptable to the Northern Democracy as any other Southern nominee, and that he would administer the Goverment to the satisfaction of the entire party of which he is so able and distinguished a leader.

Mr. Guthrie was well known to the country as Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Pierce, in which capacity he displayed eminent abilities as a financier, a statesman, and an administrative officer.

Mr. Guthrie is a gentleman whom we could support with great zest as the nominee of the Charleston Convention.

The Louisville and Portland Canal.

The fact that our commerce is most seriously checked at the Falls of the Ohio, is one that is just now forcing itself upon the attention of our business men. That we are suffering incalculably from the inadequacy of the Louisville and Portland Canal to accommodate the commerce of which the Ohio river is the natural channel, is indisputable. That there is an ample abundance of capital ready to be invested in the improvement of navigation of the Ohio at the falls, is a proposition equally clear. The question arises: To what must we attribute the fact that nothing is done to relieve the commerce of the Ohio of the obstacle which is its greatest embarrassment? We answer: The Louisville and Portland Canal belongs to the General Government, which belongs to politicians, who seek the aggrandizement of persons and parties, and give no attention, other than is incidental, to the great interests of the public. A company is formed, composed of the most unscrupulous political tricksters and treasury plunderers to be found amid the extensive assortment of such characters that the country affords, who have artfully associated with them a few men whose reputation has not become offensive, and who have some of our prominent National Legislators enlisted in their enterprise, which is stated to be the construction of a new canal on the Indiana side of the falls. The first proceeding of this promising body was the purchase of the land required, according to their plans, for the canal, not as the reader might suppose, if we had not enlightened him as to their character, to donate it to the Government, but to sell at exorbitant rates. This company is now and has been for several years endeavoring to get an appropriation of public money ostensibly for the improvement of the navigation of the Ohio, but really for the purchase of their lots at Jeffersonville. They are therefore lustily demading money in the name of the commerce of the West, which they expect to put in their own pockets. Their scheme is one of stupendous proportions: It would be difficult to guess how many millions of dollars would be required for the work they propose. We shall not, upon this occasion, go into details. It is sufficient to say that no well informed person is in favor of the new canal scheme who does not own land which he expects to sell the Government, or who is not directly under the influence of the lot holders. Every steam-boat man—owner, builder, captain, engineer, pilot, or shipper—who knows anything about it, and does not own Jeffersonville lots, or is not the tool of some one of the company of sharpers, is utterly opposed to the Jeffersonville and New Albany Canal project, and is convinced that it is a scheme of almost unparalelled impracticability and corruption. But the speculators, not content with urging their own project, have adroitly, and thus far successfully, opposed the recognition by Government of the enterprise for the enlargement of the Louisville and Portland Canal, which is eminently legitimate and practicable, as can be demonstrated in five minutes to any person of common sense. The present canal can be enlarged, until of all the capacity required, with but little interruption of its navigation, and this in a very short time and at moderate cost.—One-fifth of the money necessary to make a new canal would enlarge the old one, so that it would accommodate the largest boats that now run in the lower Ohio. Indeed, we believe a sum sufficient to buy the land held by the corporation of speculators who have invested in Jeffersonville, would be enough for the purpose of enlargement. These things can be proven by unquestioned facts and unimpeachable figures, careful and honest estimates and surveys, whose accuracy cannot be decently disputed, and are attested by the practical knowledge of men of experience, who have no interests to subserve but those of the people of the Ohio Valley. We earestly believe that if it were not for the new Canal Company, the enlargement of the present canal, necessary for the removal of the obstacles, which are strangling our commerce, could be speedily effected; and we believe, too, it would have already been accomplished, but for the operations of members of all three houses of Congress—the Senate, the House, and the Lobby—who have respected the new canal interest, and ignored every other interest connected with the trade in the West. We print, in another place, a communication from a responsible citizen of this city, and an editorial article from the Louisville Courier which will throw light upon this subject; and we propose to give it further attention.—*Cin. London Correspondence of the New York Tribune.

[Dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial.]

The intelligent London correspondent of the Tribune writes, on May 14th, as follows:

The Austrians are now fast retreating. They have now given up the line of the Susa, and will scarcely wait for the French within the bonndaries of Piedmont. Francis Joseph, who, in the first instance, snubbed Baron Hess for his cautious plan of the campaign, which was to remain around Pernese, and to accept the battle under the cannons of the fortress, has now lost his confidence in the more daring plan of Gaylan, and will in a few days set out with Baron Hess to supercede Gaylau in the command.

The continuous rain and retrograde movements have considerably damped the ardor of the young Austrian officers, who thought they might, within a few days, destroy the Sardinian army, and occupy and plunder Turin. The halo which surrounded Radetzky was artificial from the first, and specially manufactured by German papers. Napoleon is hailed by his soldiers with enthusiasm, and by the Italians with complete madness. If he succeeds in his campaign, and makes a generous use of victory in favor of Italian independence, he secures the throne for his dynasty.

We shall soon hear of a great pitched battle, probably within a week. Russia denies solemnly any alliance with France. Still, from her evasive explanation, we may infer that she has bound herself to watch Austria and keep Prussia inactive in case she should espouse the cause of Austria. The Czar is not prepared for a great war, but may easily, by hostile neutrality, paralyze an Austrian army and the Teutonic enthusiasm of Germany.

As regards England, Lord Derby is at least for non-intervention, Prince Albert for intervention in favor of Austria, and Lord Palmerston for intervention in favor of France.

FRANCE.—The elections gave a good opportunity to the boroughs and counties for expressing their wishes for complete non-intervention and honest neutrality as to continental affairs. The conservatives have gained about twenty seats, and are still in a minority of about sixty votes in full Parliament. Still they have consolidated their party by stupendous bribery.

The Platform of the Democracy of Kentucky—The Doctrine of Protection to Slavery Promulgated by the Supreme Court, adopted by the State Convention, and endorsed by District Conventions.

OPINION OF THE SUPREME COURT IN THE DRED SCOTT CASE.

"No word can be found in the Constitution which gives Congress a greater power over slave property, or which entitles property of that kind to less protection than property of any other description. The only power conferred is the power coupled with the duty of GUARDING AND PROTECTING THE OWNER IN HIS RIGHTS.

Resolution of the Democratic State Convention held at Frankfort, Ky., January 6th, 1859:

RESOLVED, THAT WE CORDIALLY AND HEARTILY APPROVE OF THE DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES IN THE DRED SCOTT CASE.

Resolution of the Eighth Congressional District Convention, at Nicholasville, May 2d, 1859:

RESOLVED, THAT WE AFFIRM AND APPROVE THE RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT FRANKFORT, ON THE 5TH JANUARY LAST, AND PLEDGE OURSELVES TO THE CORDIAL SUPPORT OF ITS NOMINEES.

Resolution of Seventh Congressional District Convention at Lagrange, May 14th, 1859:

RESOLVED, That we indorse the resolutions and proceedings of the 5th January Convention in Frankfort, and pledge to the State ticket then nominated our undivided support.

Why Col. Marshall Declined the Opposition Nomination for Congress.

It has already been announced that the Hon. Humphrey Marshall is off the track, as we long ago predicted he would be. We had understood that the Col. did not like the manner in which certain managers contrived to destroy what little life remained in the American party, at the Louisville Convention, and substitute in its stead an Opposition party, which may be regarded as in favor of anything or nothing, just as the fancy of the speaker or the circumstances surrounding him, may suggest. It is probable that the Opposition candidate for Governor may have contributed to drive Col. Marshall from the field. It is well known that Mr. Bell repudiates the course Col. Marshall pursued, in regard to the admission of Kansas into the Union as a slave State, and says that if he (Bell) had been in Congress, he would have voted for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution. This is his position in the southern part of Kentucky, at least, where that side of the question is very popular. His position on this subject is regarded as a fling at Messrs. Marshall, Underwood, and Crittenden. Mr. Underwood declines the race in his, as Col. Marshall has done in this District, and we don't suppose that Mr Crittenden will ask anything just now. Neither of them could co-operate with Mr. Bell in the canvass, and rather than produce a schism, they have chosen to step aside. The election of Mr. Bell would be a pointed censure of those gentlemen.

But if we are not misinformed, there is another important reason which largely contributed to determine Col Marshall's course. It is the proposed fusion of the enemies of Democracy under the party name of Opposition, to elect a President next year. The National Opposition party will be as essentially anti-slavery as is the present (or rather the late) Black Republican party. Of course we do not mean that the few supporters it will have in the Southern States will all be thorough Black Republicans. But in the North, the only place where it will have any formidable strength, it will be unmitigated Black Republican; and whether it may choose to make a platform embracing such principles or not, no man can be its nominee for President, who is not well known to be a sympathizer with its peculiar doctrines, and who will not give assurance to the "knowing ones," that if elected he will in his administration carry out the principles of the Black Republican party. Col. Marshall understands this matter as well as any one else, and has lost enongh by anti-slavery proclivities already, to be hostile to the movement. He will not permit himself with his present experience, to do an act which might even seem to commit him to the proposed coalition. As the Louisville Journal has already more than once hinted its willingness to support this movement, and has in fact manifested considerable anxiety that such a party shall be organized, the acceptance of a nomination from the Opposition in Kentucky at the very time when their organ in this District is trying to inaugurate the National Opposition party, might be regarded as committing Col. Marshall in favor of what he wants to be regarded as a party, that in his opinion ought to receive the support of no national statesmen. Of course, under such circumstances Col. Marshall could not do otherwise than he has done. Had the American party preserved its integrity, (although it had ceased to have an existence, excepting in a few localities), Col. Marshal could have accepted its nomination for Congress, and he doubtless would have done so. But he was unwilling to be placed on a ticket at the head of which is a man who, three years ago, declared that the principles of the American party were subversive of the civil and religious liberties of this country, and who now says that he takes back nothing he said in 1856, as he holds the same opinions of the American party that he then held. This severe censure of the principles of the American party, together with Mr. Bell's censure of Col. Marshall's votes in Congress, precludes the idea of Col. Marshall's accepting a nomination from a party that nominated Bell for the highest position in the State. Col. Marshall might have stood covert affiliation with Black Republicanism, but was not prepared to stand an openly avowed amalgamation. Moreover, if Col. Marshall had accepted the nomination, the Opposition would have expected him to travel over the District and abuse the Democracy. This Col. Marshall would not consent to do, from the fact that if elected to Congress he expected to find but two parties there—the Democratic and Black Republican—and he would like to be understood as feeling himself constrained to vote and act mainly with the Democratic party. It is not "our funeral," but we honestly believe that the party, in throwing Col. Marshal overboard for the sake of getting Bell to run for Governor, have thrown themselves overboard.

The True Philosophy of the Relations of the States and Territories at length Obtained.

The following article, with the above heading, appeared in the Democratic Standard on the 21st inst. The Standard is published at Concord, in the State of New Hampshire, and we commend the careful perusal of this article to every one of our readers. When our Democratic friends, who dwell so far North, in the midst of the most rabid Abolitionists, hold such noble doctrines as are set forth in this article, what are we to think of Southern dough-faced editors, who, in the sacred name of Democracy, are promulging Black Republican heresies in our midst? What are we to think of the Louisville Democrat for using its influence and position, as a Southern Democratic paper, for the purpose of building up a Douglas party in Kentucky, and committing the Democracy of the State to practical Abolitionism? We do not believe that the Democracy of Kentucky will submit to any such thing, and we, therefore, ask them to read carefully the following article from the New Hampshire Standard, and to respond to it in a spirit worthy of men, of patriots, of statesmen, of Southerners, and of Democrats.

The problem of the true relations of the States [redacted] to each other and to the Territories, is at length obtained. The principles which should govern in the settlement of the difficulties which have agitated the country, and threatened the stability of the Union, are found in the nature of our political institutions. They are to be found in the Constitution, which is the basis of our political system. Whatever is in accordance with the principles of that instrument, is right; whatever is not in accordance with those principles, is wrong. The Constitution is the chart by which we are to steer our course. It is the polar star which is to guide us in our political voyage. It is the only safe rule of action. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is safe; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is unsafe. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is constitutional; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is unconstitutional. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is right; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is wrong. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is true; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is false. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is good; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is bad. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is beautiful; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is ugly. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is perfect; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is imperfect. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is eternal; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is temporary. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is infinite; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is finite. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is God; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not God. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the salvation; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the salvation. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the eternal life; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the eternal life. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the kingdom of God; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the kingdom of God. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the new heaven and the new earth; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the new heaven and the new earth. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the new Jerusalem; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the new Jerusalem. Whatever is in accordance with that rule, is the tree of life; whatever is not in accordance with that rule, is not the tree of life. PROPOSALS FOR MATERIALS FOR THE NAVY.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Bureau of Construction, Equipment, &c.
MAY 19, 1859.

SEALED proposals to furnish materials for the navy for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1860, will be received at this bureau until 3 o'clock, P. M., of the 20th June next. These proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Materials for the Navy, Bureau of Construction, &c." that they may be distinguished from other business letters.
The materials and articles embraced in the classes named are particularly described in printed schedules, any of which will be furnished to such as desire it, on application to the commandants of the respective navy yards, at the navy agent nearest thereto, and those of all the yards, upon application to this bureau. This division into classes being for the convenience of dealers in each, such portions will be furnished as are actually required for bids. The commandant and navy agent of each station will have a copy of the schedules of the other yards, for examination only, from which it may be judged whether it will be desirable to make application for them.
Offers must be made for the whole of the class at any yard upon one of the printed schedules, or in strict conformity therewith, or they will not be consdered.
The contract will be awarded to the lowest bona fide bidder who gives proper security for its fulfilment. The United States reserve the right to reject all the bids for any class, if deemed exorbitant.
All articles must be of the very best quality, to be delivered in good order, and in suitable vessels and packages, at the case may be, at the expense and risk of the contractor, and in all respects subject to the inspection, measurement, count, weight, &c., of the yard where received, and to the entire satisfaction of the commandant thereof.
Bidders are referred to the commandants of the respective yards for samples, instructions, or particular description of the articles; and, all other things being equal, preference will be given to articles of American manufacture.
Every offer, as required by the law of 10th August, 1846, must be accompanied by a written guarantee, the form of which is herewith given.
Those only whose offers may be accepted will be notified, for the contract will be forwarded as soon thereafter as practicable, and they will be required to execute within ten days after its receipt at the post office or navy agency named by them.
Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility certified to by a United States district judge, United States district attorney, collector, or navy agent. As additional security, twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contract shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of each bill, approved in triplicate by the commandants of the respective yards, will be paid by the navy agent at the points of delivery within thirty days after its presentation to him.
It is stipulated in the contract that, if default be made by the parties of the first part in delivering all or any of the articles mentioned in any class bid for in contract, of the quality and at the time and places above provided, then, and in that case, the contractor and his sureties will forfeit it and pay to the United States a sum of money not exceeding twice the amount of such class, which may be recovered from time to time, according to the act of Congress in that case provided, approved March 3, 1843.
Class No. 6 to be delivered one fourth part on or before the 15th May, one fourth part on or before the 30th July, one fourth part by the 20th September, and the remainder by the 1st December, 1860. Class 3, the whole by the 15th May, 1860. The remaining classes to be delivered one-fourth part on or before 1st September next, one-fourth part on or before 1st December next, one-fourth part on or before the 1st April, and the remainder on or before the 30th June, 1860, unless earlier required, with a notice of twelve days, comprising at each delivery a due proportion of each article. Class 10 and all following, if additional quantities of any of the articles named therein are demanded, they are to be furnished on like terms and conditions previous to the expiration of the fiscal year, upon receiving a notice of fifteen days from the bureau, the commandant of the navy yard, or navy agent.

Form of Offer.

I, ———, of ———, in the State of ———, hereby agree to furnish and deliver, in the respective navy yards, all the articles named in the classes hereunto annexed, agreeably to the provisions of the schedules therefor, and in conformity with the advertisement of the Bureau of Construction, &c., of the 19th of May, 1859. Should my offer be accepted, I request to be addressed at ———, and the contract sent to the navy agent at ———, or to ———, for signature and certificate.

The schedule which the bidder encloses must be pasted to his offer, and each of them signed by him. Opposite each article in the schedule the price must be set, the amount carried out, the aggregate footed up for each class, and the amount likewise written in words.

Form of Guarantee.

The undersigned, ———, of ———, in the State of ———, and ———, of ———, in the State of ———, hereby guaranty that in case the foregoing bid of ——— for any of the classes therein named be accepted, he or they will, within ten days after the receipt of the contract at the post office named, or navy agent designated, execute the contract for the same, with good and sufficient sureties; and in case said ——— shall fail to enter into contract as aforesaid, we guaranty to make good the difference between the offer of the said ——— and that which may be accepted.

Signatures of two guarantors. C D.

CHAS. FRODSHAM
CHRONOMETER WATCHES!

WE have information from a very reliable source that it is understood by some that the Frodsham Watches cannot be repaired and adjusted as perfectly as originally without sending them to Mr. Williard, the general agent of Mr. Frodsham. In answer, we will state that we will replace any part of this Watch that may be broken fully as perfect in every respect as when first made, and adjust the Watch to run the same in six different positions (four circular and two horizontal), and not to change from the temperature of Zero to 90 degrees above it. We also manufacture Jewels from Ruby, Sapphire, Garnet, and Chrysolite Stones, and finish them as finely as any watch jeweling can be made. Our facilities for are fully equal to any this side of Europe.

Having sold several of the above Watches, we refer to the following well-known persons as to the merits of the Frodsham Watch:
R. E. Ricker, Sup't N. A. and Salem R. R.
B. V. Blewett, Prof. Bethel College, Russellville, Ky.
C. S. Brodie, Brodie's Landing, Tenn.
Col. Stephen Ormsby, Jefferson county, Ky.

Stockholders Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

BY reference to resolutions below it will be seen that the Stockholders have the privilege of 90 days from the 10th day of April to take the reduced stock of the Company at par. After that time, (if not all taken,) the public will have the privilege of taking stock at the same price. This the Directory think just and right, and, if the Stockholders do not avail themselves of the opportunity, they cannot complain. We are now ready to receive orders. Orders will be received from others than stockholders, the orders to be filed according to priority after the expiration of 90 days.
All who have not made the loan of 50 cents per share or paid their installments must do so before the 10th day of June next. After that time we have no discretion.
Be it resolved, That the issue and sale of five per cent. stock shall be and is hereby limited to an amount which shall not exceed the sum of three millions of dollars, at the par value thereof, paid and endorsed thereon, and shall not exceed this amount unless three-fourths of the stock of the company concurring shall so direct; and at a meeting specially called for that object.
Be it resolved, That the Stockholders and creditors of this company shall have the preferred right to purchase of this company the reduced stock authorized in these resolutions to be sold, for the period of ninety days from the 10th day of April, 1859, unless in the judgment of the President, the security and interests of the company otherwise demand. BONNIE JENNY LINDSAY

O, there is ane that I loe mair
Than a' the wor d beside
'Tis bonnie Jenny Lindsay,
And she will be my bride.

Her neck is like the drifted snaw
Upon the mountain side,
When Phœbus tips wi' rosy light
Departing eventide.

Her bonnie een, o' mischief fu',
Are black as ony sloe,
Sparkling wi' wit and laughter aye—
'Twould make the gravest gay.

And pearly teeth, and ruby lips
Like cherries wet wi' dew;
Bright rosy cheeks and dimpled chin,
And roguish pouting mou'.

Her raven locks are braided smooth
Around her queenly bro',
Where intellect and tender thought
Have left their impress true.

Her form is lithe and graceful
As ony woodland fawn,
Bounding wi' joy and fearless glee
Across the flowery lawn.

O bonnie Jenny Lindsay
Will soon be all my ain,
And auld and young, and rich and poor,
Will look at me fu' fain,

TERRIFIC FIGHT WITH A RATTLESNAKE.—We have hitherto supposed the day long since passed for chronicling a big snake fight in the vicinity of the Central City, but such it appears is not the case, from a scene which recently transpired within a short drive from the court house. Some of the older residents will remember a building which formerly stood on Prospect Hill, about six miles distant from Peoria, and which was destroyed some seven or eight years since. During the past season another house was erected near the same location, and all that has remained as relics of the old hotel was a partially filled excavation for a cellar, and two well-preserved brick cisterns, which had been kept covered up. Last week, the proprietor of the place, while busy with his wife in preparing their summer flower garden, found himself in the want of a few bricks for the edge of the walks. Remembering the cisterns, he uncovered one of them, and finding it dry at the bottom, and only about six feet in depth, he jumped in, and commenced throwing out some of the best bricks he could pick from the walls. It seems there was a piece of plank with one end partially imbedded in the earth that somewhat incommoded him, so seizing it, with some exertion, he pulled it out and threw it to the top. What was his horror and surprise, at the next moment, to find that he had unearthed an enormous rattlesnake, and himself without a weapon in his hand.

As the cistern was round, and only about five feet in diameter, he could not jump out, and the snake, bristling with anger and rattling defiance, was ready for battle. His screams brought his wife to the scene, but she was so overcome with fright that she became powerless to render any assistance. The snake, in the meantime, had commenced the fight, making repeated springs at him, but fortunately he managed on each occasion to hit him upon the head with his boot, without receiving a bite, the snake all the time becoming more defiant and enraged. During the whole scene, which lasted several minutes, the man did not lose his presence of mind, but watching his chance, made several frantic efforts to jump bodily from this seemingly pit of destruction. At the last trial, he fortunately grasped a brick, which gave way with him, and remained in his hand, as he again stood fronting his hissing enemy.

After a few more kicks, and watching his opportunity, he fired it, making probably one of the best shots on record, for it struck the snake on the head, and between the one sent and the wall, he became a "pretty well used up sarpint." Weak and exhausted, our hero, by the assistance of his wife, was enabled to climb from the pit, but when once more upon the earth, he fainted away, and it was some time before he recovered. For several succeeding days he was quite unwell, owing probably to the poisonous effluvia inhaled, while his desperate exercise in the encounter rendered him exceedingly lame. The snake was afterwards taken from the cistern, when it was found to measure seven feet in length, and contained thirteen rattles! The latter have been preserved, and are placed in Shoaff's Museum for exhibition.—Peoria (Ill.) Transcript, May 18th.

A WOMAN OVER HACKNEY FALLS—GALLANT RESCUE.—On Sunday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, Miss Dorothy L. Paul, a young lady residing on Jefferson street, while crossing the Owasco outlet, just above Hackney Falls, on some beams thrown across the stream, became dizzy by the rush of the water and fell into the whirling torrent, and was carried rapidly down toward the falls. In a moment she made what appeared to be the fatal plunge, which was witnessed by some excited spectators on the banks. The falls are about twenty feet in hight, and the immense body of water that rushed over carried her along like a wooden top.

After she made the plunge she was seen struggling in the water below. Some men on the bank, with pale cheeks, witnessed her struggles, but made no efforts to rescue her. She was under the falls and whirling around like a top. Her fate seemed certain, when a young man, by the name of William Marks, gallantly rushed forward, threw off his coat and vest, kicked off his boots, and plunged head first from the high and rocky shore into the water, a height of thirty feet; he disappeared for a moment, but soon came to the surface, and in a few quick strokes he reached the drowning woman, seized her and commenced the difficult and dangerous feat of rescuing her.

The banks on either side of the outlet are precipitous and abrupt, and he was, consequently, obliged to swim with his burden some twenty rods down the stream. Fortunately the young lady did not ignore the fashions of the day, and consequently her "Douglas & Sherwood's best" buoyed her up and made the exertions of her noble rescuer much lighter. After considerable effort Miss Paul was restored to her senses, and conveyed to her home. Miss Paul was in a precarious situation up to 12 o'clock last night, but was then pronounced out of danger by her physician, Dr. A. C. Traher. She is now threatened with congestion of the lungs.—Auburn (N. Y.) Advertiser, 24th.

C. O. D.—An Irish store-keeper having ordered a quantity of haddock fish, by Adams & Co.'s express, was somewhat indignant upon the delivery of the fish to find on the outside of the package the letters "C. O. D."

"An sure," says Pat, "I didn't order codfish"

The express man examined the fish and pronounced them haddock.

"Well," says Pat, "c-o-d won't spell haddock."

"Oh, no, the expressman replied, "c-o-d spells cod."

"An,' says Pat, triumphantly, pointing to the fish, "them's fish"

"Yes—you are right there."

"Well, that makes codfish, don't it, ye spalpeen?"

"But where do you get the cod from?" returns the express man.

"Look there," says Pat, pointing at the portentous "C. O. D.," "that's cod, to be sure."

"Oh, no," replies "express," "that's "C. O. D., which means, 'collect on delivery.' "

"Ah, bedad, I didn't think o' that," cries Pat, scratching his head with one hand, and feeling for his pu se with the other; "but, young man, let me give ye a bit o' advice. When yez bring any more bundles for me, don't put on anything so mysterious again; but joost revers the big letters D. O. C. and then yez can deliver on collection, which any fool can understand."

The express man walked off, much pleased, and promised to lay Pat's suggestion before the superintendent.—N. Y. Mercury.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—Col. Matt. Martin, of Shelbyville, and J. W. Brown, a cosmopolite, from Charleston, S. C., met in this city on Tuesday night, and had a rencontre at the City Hotel.—Yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, they again met in Cherry street, between Church and Union, when, both being armed, they commenced firing pistols at each other. Brown fired some four or five shots and Martin two or three. Martin's pistol missing fire two or three times, he rushed toward Brown, when the latter fled, M. throwing his pistol after him. The parties were then arrested and taken before the City Recorder. The case created considerable excitement; and the court-room was thronged by a crowd of eager spectators throughout the examination, which lasted several hours. The parties were each bound over to keep the peace in the sum of $1,000, and fined $50 and costs each—the highest limit of the corporation law. The cause of the difficulty was of a domestic nature, testimony as to which was excluded on the trial before the Recorder.—Nashville Patriot.

DEPARTURES.

Glenwood, Pitts; Anglo Saxon, St Louis; E H Fairchild, N O; Kentucky, Mem; Landis, Cin; Bowling Green, Leav; Telegraph, Cin; Hickman, Mem; Dr Kane, St Louis; Universe, N O; Hazel Dell, Pitts;

THE RIVER is falliug at the rate of about an inch in 24 hours, with 4 feet 9 inches in the canal, last evening, by the mark. The Landis, drawing 5½ feet water, worked her way through the canal last evening very handily. On the falls there are 2 feet 9 inches water. The weather turned suddenly and unseasonably cold yesterday, the thermometer indicating a fall of 20 degrees in the temperature.

Heavy rains have fallen along the Ohio below Cincinnati, and light rains fell in this vicinity yesterday morning, which have cooled the atmosphere.

By our dispatches from Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, it appears that the river continues to fall at those points, with only 3 feet in the channel at Pittsburgh.

☞ The Cumberland river at Nashville, Wednesday, was falling, with seven feet water on the shoals, and the Tempest had departed for this city.

The Steve Decatur and Die Vernon, from St. Louis, passed Evansville Thursday evening, and were due last night.

The Die Vernon, in charge of our popular friend, Capt. John M. Martin, is advertised for St. Louis this evening. She will start from Portland at 4 o'clock.

☞ We have heard a good many stories of the gold found by emigrants in Cherry Valley, but saw yesterday a returned Pike's Peaker, who came round on the High Flyer. He had the product of three months labor in the gold diggins, all in a small goose quill.

☞ The following in reference to Red river is from our New Orleans exchanges of Sunday last:

The Lecompte reports a rise in Upper Red river of three or four feet, which will let out the boats above the Shoals. The Era No. 1, Trio, and other boats, are all reported to be on their way down with full loads of cotton, engaged at such fancy prices as $6 per bale.

THE JOE BOAT DILIGENT.—We have mentioned this several times, and understand that she starts to St. Louis to-day. The Diligent is a well-built, commodious tow boat, and pleasure boat, and will prove serviceable in the harbor of St. Louis, where she is designed to ply. The boat was built for Capt. W. A. Porter, who has constantly superintended her construction, and succeeded in securing a very stout, handy hoat. The hull was built by T. S. Nadal, of this city. It is 136 feet in length, with 28 feet beam; 24 feet floor, and 4½ feet depth of hold, drawing only 30 inches.

The engines, doctor, &c., all complete, were made at the foundry of Hawly, Billings & Co.—Our clever friend Joe Mitchell, who has no superior in the West, made the boilers—three in number—and we know that they will stand the test.—The iron work was all put together by the skillful hands of A. Baker. The joiner work, rooms, &c., was turned out by McClaran & Co., of the steam factory. She hasrooms for officers and crew, and an open room nearly 100 feet leng, and 20 feet wide, for pic nic, or excursion, and dancing parties. She is a side wheel, handy craft, presenting a very neat appearance at the river, and will certainly prove a decided acquisition to the people and harbor of St. Louis.

The Dilligent starts to St. Louis to-day, in charge of Capt. W. A. Porter, who built her. He is a clever man, and will take all the freight offered, as she tows seven barges out.

☞ We learn that Capt. Newell, formerly of the H. R. W. Hill, will take charge of the Victoria, in the Vicksburg trade, during the remainder of the season.

☞ The White river packet, Evansville, left Memphis for Louisville on Monday evening, to be taken in charge by her new owners.

THE OVERFLOW OF THE MISSISSIPPI.—The following extract from a letter from Greenville, Miss., gives the details of the lands and plantations overflowed in that region by the present flood in the Mississippi. Many plans of prevention have been suggested, but we think that of continuous levees on both sides of the river wrong, as they confine the waters, and increase their density and loice, and cause great destruction wherever a break or crevasse occurs. Openings on one side of the river, or the other, at alternate points, should be made, especially in swamp districts, Moon lake, and other outlets. Sacrifice a few for the benefit of the many, and pray for the overflowed districts:

This point is 75 miles below Napoleon, the county seat of Washington. Between Napoleon and Columbia, Arkansas, the western side of the river is but slightly affected by the overflow. The levees appear perfectly sound, and able to resist a much greater strain than they have yet been subjected to. The upper part of Deahs county is somewhat inundated, about 15,000 acres being submerged, of which, however, not over 2,000 are under cultivation.

The average width of the Arkansas bottom from Napoleon to within 100 miles of the Louisiana line, is about 25 miles. Two-thirds of this tract was overflowed last season. Below Columbia down to this place, the Arkansas levee is overflowed at several points, and about 3,000 acres of productive land inundated.

On the Mississippi side, I find the bottom almost entirely overflowed, from Prentiss down to Island 82.

It is estimated that 800,000 acres are under water in this tract, embracing some of the richest and most productive plantations in the country.

On the opposite side the lower portion of Chicot county, Arkansas, is completely covered. The large plantations of Messrs. Ringgold and Polk have not an acre in sight. The break at Matthew's Bend is a bad one, and overflows the country for several miles back and below. The Ross plantation, containing about 1,000 acres under cultivation, is entirely under. Judge Griffin and Col. Kilpatrick are both under. These two gentlemen make usually about three thousand bales. The country in the vicinity of Lake Washington is wholly inundated. Harvey Miller's magnificent plantation is badly overflowed. The Cox, Bullitt and Egg plantations are all two-thirds under. In the region of Deer Creek is not an acre of dry land is visible. The plantation of Senator Douglas, containing about 400 acres, and that of Dick Hill are overflowed. The aggregate number of cotton-yielding lands in this county (Chicot) is put down by those well qualified to judge, at 35,000 acres, and the amount of damage done at one and a half million of dollars.

Many, I find, are losing confidence in the levee system of protection, and advocate the "cut-off" theory.

☞ The Supervising Inspector, and the Local Inspectors of this district, regarding the steamer Tishomingo as unsafe and unseaworthy, have ordered her out of service. Her inspection papers expired some weeks since, and since that time she has been running in violation of law.

THE WRECKS OF THE NAT HOLMES AND DAVID GIBSON.—We learn from a friend who visited the wrecks of these boats recently sunk by collision with each other in the Ohio river, opposite Petersburg, that the Nat. Holmes was struck two feet aft of her forward chock, on the larboard side, ranging back to the boilers, and cutting through the hull nearly to the hatch. The boilers of the boat were struck, and actually knocked overboard.

The bow of the David Gibson was terribly shattered to the capstan, the capstan unshipped, and the spindle hent down flat to the deck.

The bell boat Sub-Marine No. 6, Capt. Patrick, was wrecking the Nat. Holmes, and in ten days expects to have the boat entirely stripped of her cargo and machinery. In the hold of the boat was about an average of eighteen inches mud. After wrecking the hull, Capt. Patrick designs endeavoring to recover the boilers of the Holmes.

The hell-boat expects to be able to raise the David Gibson as soon as the river falls six or eight feet more at that point. The above facts were obtained from personal inspection of the hoats, and from the officers of the bell-boat at work over the wrecks. They demonstrate the fact pretty conclusively that the headway of the hoats, particularly the Gibson, was not stopped excepting only by the force of the collision. Capt. McKinley, of the David Gibson, as we have already published, has been indicted by the grand jury at Indianapolis for manslaughter.

☞ By passengers from Lexington, last evening, we learn that heavy rains had fallen all through that region, and at Frankfort the Kentucky river was rising again, and very muddy.

☞ The Dove, Capt. Sanders, is the regular Kentucky river packet this evening. The starts at 3 o'clock, for Frankfort and Woodford, with our clever friends Pendleton and Woods clerks.

☞ The High Flyer, as we learn from Capt. Tom Wright, is having a new shaft made to replace the broken one, and he expects she will be all right and ready to resume her place in the St. Louis trade Tuesday week.

☞ The E. H. Fairchild cleared for N. Orleans last evening with a good trip, including 1,500 coils of rope, and a vast amount of bacon and pork, chiefly for plantation landings. Freights continue firm at the advance—30 cents for pound lots. The rates from Cincinnati yesterday were as follows: New Orleans—Whisky and oil $1; flour 50c; pork 75c; pound freights 30c per cwt.

☞ A brace of steamboat cooks had a regular set-to on the wharf yesterday morning. The cause of the mess was something about cutting down wages by one or the other.

☞ Thanks to our clever friend, Capt. Brown, clerk of the Jacob Poe, from Pittsburgh, for a manifest.

The Jacob Poe, in charge of Capt. Andrews, a popular boatman, is advertised for Parkersburg and Wheeling this evening. She is a staunch, well managed craft.

☞ The ferry boat, Excelsior, grounded at Portland several times yesterday, and the channel was very much cut up and difficult to run.

☞ To the officers of the fleet Jas. Montgomery we are indebted for a manifest, and New Orleans papers of Sunday, forwarded from Cairo. She is due this evening.

☞ The Superior, in place of the Strader, is the mail and passenger packet for the East, at noon, to-day.

HARD AGROUND.—The Anglo Saxon last evening, after working through the canal, grounded hard and fast on the new bar, in front of the Portland bar, in a little over 4 feet water. She was aground square across the channel, with the Pink Varble pulling at her, but unable to budge her an inch. She will have to lighten off.

☞ The Pacific, Capt. Jesse Bell, is due from New Orleans to-night. She left New Orleans last Monday, and returns on next Monday.

MEMORANDA.

The Jas Montgomery left New Orleans Saturday, May 21st, at 6 o'clock, P. M. Pacific in port for Louisville. Met Woodford at Vicksburg, John Raine at Island 74. Fanny Bullit at 66, J R Ward at 14, McLellan at Riddle's Point.

THE VESPER GAS OR AIR LIGHT.
The Cheapest, most Brilliant, and most Convenient Artificial Light in the World.
THE Vesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation for elegance, economy, safety and simplicity, far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of coal gas; but in brilliancy and purity of light, it possesses a decided advantage over even Louisville coal gas. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of wick; and the construction of the fixtures is so simple that it is not liable to get out of order, and a child can manage it readily. The gas burnt in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from odor while burning, as, by a simple contrivance, the vapor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, producing perfect combustion and a most intense light. The light has been pronounced, by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, there being no flickering or unsteadiness in the flame. The Vesper Gas light is portable, and can be used in town or country—in fact, wherever artificial light is required. The fixtures themselves are adapted in styles to suit all tastes, from the plain single light burner to the most costly chandelier. Each chandelier is perfect in itself; there is no ontlay to be made for service pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single light burner to the expensive chandelier, are miniature gas works in themselves. They are sold at prices which do not exceed the cost of ordinary gas fixtures of similar styles and ornamentation. A price list will be sent to any address on application.

MERCHANTS
visiting Louisville should not fail to procure the Vesper Gas fixtures for their stores.

CHURCHES, HOTELS, PUBLIC HALLS AND PRIVATE RESIDENCES
throughout the State can now be fitted up with those elegant and convenient chandeliers, and other beautiful gas fixtures, which add so much to the appearance of such places, and to the comfort of the home circle, and which, heretofore, could be used only in those favored districts embraced within the coal gas limits of large cities.

The limited space of an advertisement precludes the insertion here of the numerous testimonials of approval we have received from all quarters. Suffice it to say, scientific men and others who have examined and thoroughly tested the merits of the Vesper Gas light, pronounce it the best and cheapest artificial light now known.

☞ The proprietor respectfully requests responsible merchants in every town and county in the State to correspond with him, believing they will find it to their interest to aid him in introducing this unequaled light to their customers.

Vesper Fixtures and Coal Oil, prepared expressly for this burner, kept constantly on hand, and for sale wholesale and retail. WM. H. SETTLE,

LUNAR LIGHT.
CHEAPEST, BEST, AND MOST BRILLIANT LIGHT IN THE WORLD EXCEPT THAT OF THE SUN.
THIS LAMP burns with a pure white brilliant light equal to gas, and is much cheaper than gas. The Lunar Lights took the first premium at the last Mechanics' Fair in Louisville. One dollar's worth of Lunar Oil gives the light of $3 16 of Lard Oil, $4 86 of Whale Oil, $9 46 of Burning Fluid, $14 26 of Candles. Half a pint burns 15 hours, costing about 5½ cents, giving a light equal to 5 or 6 star candles. Lunar Oil is not explosive, has no disagreeable smell, and is not liable to smoke. Lamps suitable for all purposes.

Two Thread, Double Lock, Tight Stitch
SEWING MACHINE!
NEVER BEFORE SOLD IN THE WEST!
Price.....$45.
THIS is no cheap, chain single thread, ripping stitch Machine, but makes in every way the same TWO THREAD, DOUBLE LOCK, TIGHT STITCH, as the most popular high-priced Machines do. Its work will not rip, ravel through every third stitch be cut. The principle is new, the Machine simple, easily adjusted, and not likely to get out of order. Sews from two common spools without rewinding. They will Stitch, Hem, Tuck and Gather—have less machinery than any other in use, every part of which is strong and durable. Its simplicity and strength particularly adapt it for plantation use. It sews the finest Muslin, heavy Negro Clothing, or Leather, by simply changing the needle and thread to suit the work. Samples of work sent by mail. Full printed instructions given with each Machine sent out of town, and personal instruction to all within our reach. No. 5 Masonic Temple, Fourth street.

DAILY COURIER

SATURDAY,.....MAY 28, 1859.

HAYTIAN COSTUMES.—James Redpath writes to the N. Y. Tribune of his observations during a sojourn in Hayti:

After descending from the mountains, we passed two or three collections of huts. At one of them—four leagues from Gonaives—we saw an interesting family group. There was an old man, a young man, and two young women—the men with their feet and the women with their breasts uncovered; three almost naked children—one, a girl, fat and whining; one, a boy, dirty and merry; both utterly naked, but both under two years of age; and a boy, eleven years old, with the most unique of light summer dresses. He wore a checkered handkerchief on his head, and an old broken case knife suspended from his neck by a piece of twine. That was all. Cool, wasn't it? and cheap.

THE CASE OF THE BOY MORTARA.—The Lord Mayor of London received the following communication

ROME, April 28-3.45.

TO SAMPSON SAMUEL, New Broad street, London:

Contrary to every expectation, I could not succeed in obtaining an audience of the Pope to present our memorial. Cardinal Antonelli received it from me this morning, at the Vatican, and will hand it to the Sovereign Pontiff. The Cardinal gave assurance of good will towards the Israelites in the Papal States, and that everything will be done to prevent the occurrence of any similar case. The parents of the child Mortara can have free access to him. MOSES MONTEFIORE.

Polite to the Last.

The Spanish Consul for Australia, Don Antonio de Ayala, lately blew out his brains while in England, but before doing so wrote a letter of apology to the Duke of Marlborough for destroying himself in his Grace's park, which is a perfect curiosity in its way:

WOODSTOCK, April 14.

My Lord:—I humbly ask your lordship's pardon and forgiveness for the great liberty I have taken in coming to put an end to my dreary and miserable existence in your park. It may be a childish feeling, but one cannot blow his brains out in a common road, or one of those cultivated fields full of cottages, and life, and civilization and railways, and establishments of all kinds, of which your blessed country of England abound. So I have not found another proper place to die decently than your handsome park, and you must bear the inconvenience of a dead man in your grounds. I mean no offence.

I have yesterday visited your house, hoping the sight of good things, and chiefly good paintings, could do me good, and soften the wild ideas that had led me to put an end to my life; but all of no use. Your manor is one of the most noble, splendid things I saw in my life, and I have traveled about and seen nearly everything worth seeing.—You have the finest Rubens that can be seen; that should have a great attraction for me under other circumstances, but now they have been of no use.

I hope, with that splendid house, and park, and paintings, and library, you are happy, my lord. If that is the case you will have a kind heart, and pity a poor devil come to die in your grounds. If, on the contrary, you are miserable also, as wealth is a medium, and does not constitute happiness, then you will say like old Dido,— and pity me, and order that they shall leave me quiet, and bury me in the spot I have died, and put a cross on it in the Spanish fashion. I will be very grateful in the other world for it if you do so, and wish not to trouble any more your lordship about me.

"Non ignara mali, miseris succurrere disco,"

I am, my lord, yours respectfully,
A. ARROM DE AYALA.

BONAPARTE — BOURBON — ORLEANS.—The positions which these three houses now occupy may be thus stated: Louis Napoleon, the reigning head of the Bonaparte family, is the leader of the allied armies of France and Sardinia, and is in the field against Austria. Count de Chambord, the head of the Bourbon branch, has resided in Austria for the last twenty years, but now retires to Holland, refusing to remain under the flag of a nation at war with his country, France. The young Duke de Chartres, the head of the Orleanists, joined the Sardinian army as soon as war was declared, and proposed to take part in the approaching conflict. But his uncles, the Orleans princes, being opposed to this course of the young Duke, have recalled him to London. The London Daily News says that he was pursuing his studies in a Sardinian military school when the war broke out, and nothing was more natural than that he, a youth under twenty years of age, should have participated in the enthusiasm of his comrades. The News thus continues:

"It probably never occurred to him that the French Emperor, who is now virtually the Commander-in-Chief of the Sardinian army, would object, for political reasons, to see a Prince of the house of Orleans gaining military distinction before the eyes of the French regiments. It is not known that the Emperor has actually made any such objections, but the incongruity of the situation which might have occurred is patent Moreover, although an exiled prince might gain popularity by risking his life in fighting side by side with the French army, it may very well be that the Orleans princes do not think it wise, for the sake of gratifying youthful ambition, to adopt the responsibility of the war, and gratuitously to exhibit their house as inimical to the dynasty of Austria. The withdrawal of the Duc de Chartres from Turin is therefore what was to have been expected.

ROMANTIC MATRIMONIAL DEVELOPMENTS.—The suits against John H. Bates, an Englishman recently convicted of bigamy at Dedham, and which are brought by three different parties to recover for board of the first wife, were commenced in the second session of the Superior Court yesterday, as will be seen by our Court record. The trial yesterday developed some rather romantic incidents in relation to Bates' matrimonial career. The woman who claims to be his first and legal wife, says she was married to him in 1834, and that she was soon after deserted by Mr. B., who married another woman, with whom he has lived twenty years, and by whom he had fifteen children. The first wife pursued Bates and secured his conviction as a bigamist; but in the mean time she had married again, and Bates retorted by having her indicted for the same offence. The question seems to be whether the legal Mrs. Bates has so conducted herself since she was deserted, as to entitle her to support by the husband. The main features of the defense are to prove that she has been married to another man, and committed adultery.—Boston Traveller.

Funeral of Baron Humboldt.

BERLIN, Tuesday, May 10, 9 A. M.—The solemn funeral procession of Alexander von Humboldt is now on its way to the Cathedral. All that represents science, art and intelligence in Berlin joins in the procession. Three Chamberlains in gold costume, bearing the orders of the illustrious deceased, precede the funeral car, which is drawn by six horses from the Royal stables. Upon the car is a simple uncovered coffin of oak adorned with flowers and laurel. On either side of the car are students bearing green palm branches.

A line of carriages of immense length closes the procession. The Prince Regent and all the Princes and Princesses are assembled in the Cathedral, awaiting the arrival of the great philosopher's mortal remains. A mournful aspect overspreads the whole town.

THE BENICIA BOY AND HIS CINCINNATI LADY-LOVE.—One of the New York weeklies understands that Mr. John Heenan, better known as the "Benicia Boy," is shortly to be married to a beautiful young lady of high position, socially and aristocratically, having been regarded by the artists of Cincinnati with much admiration. The lady is very talented, and writes a great deal for various periodicals. But her chief claims to distinction are her military honors. She was born in a soldier's barracks, and educated as a "Soldier's Daughter." This was a decided case, on both sides, of love at first sight; some bloodthirsty brothers, however, have sworn to bar the marriage, and the young lady is closely watched.

NEW STYLE ENVELOPES.—The Postmaster-General has under consideration the propriety of adopting in the preparation of stamped envelopes, a new style, just coming into use. These envelopes are so prepared that black lines on the inside of the back of the envelope, and invisible from without, become patent on the front when the envelope is pressed, and serve as ruled lines to guide the superscription. The additional expense of these envelopes, which are gotten up in superior style, is trifling, and their convenience has commended them to the attention of the department.

☞ Armstrong, one of the murderers of the mail-carrier near Brantford, Canada West, has made a full confession. During his lifetime he has robbed to the extent of $15,000 in money and jewelry. The largest haul made by him was from the purser's office of the steamer Empire State, when lying at the wharf at this city, the sum stolen by him on this occasion being $2,810. The robbery was effected by his dressing himself as a female and passing himself off as the wife of the cook of the boat. The clothes were furnished him by a prostitute in a house of ill-fame at this place, to whom he gave $300 for the use of them.

☞ Richard Cobden has gone west to look after some investments. Those who imagine this gentleman to be the same Cobden, who a few years ago, was so energetic a parliamentary man, are mistaken; he has lost the expression of earnestness and the individuality of look which them distinguished him, and subsided into the comfortable, well-to do, uniformly respectable look of the middled aged Englishman, who "takes things easy" and enjoys his dinner.—Boston Transcript.

☞ Mr. Wise, the æronaut, has completed his arrangements for a baloon journey from St. Louis to the Atlantic seaboard. His balloon, the "Nineteenth Century," is 68 feet in diameter, and contains 60,000 feet of gas. Mr. Wise undertakes this journey chiefly as an experiment with which to satisfy himself of the practicability of his scheme of æronauting across the Atlantic Ocean.

Protection to Slave Property.

Gov. Wise, of Virginia, has written a letter containing his views upon the political questions of the day, from which we make the following extract relative to the duty of Congress to protect slave property in the Territories:

THE DUTY OF CONGRESSIONAL INTERVENTION FOR PROTECTION.

Such are the teachings to me of our past history, and I trust that I have now demonstrated that the inhabitants or people of a Territory are sovereign to form for themselves a Constitution and State Government; as I have shown in the first place, that in their Territorial condition they are within the entire control and jurisdiction, or under the entire rule and regulation of Congress, subject to the Constitution of the United States, and that the citizens of each and all of the States are alike equally entitled to protection in all the privileges and immunities of persons and of property, common to equal confederates.

And this right and this duty of Protection is not to be evaded or avoided either, by the false ad captandum clamor that a Code is required to be enacted by Congress for the protection of slave property. This is but to cast odium upon slavery, by creating the impression that a discrimination is necessary to distinguish it above what is due to other personal and proprietary rights. On the contrary, no such Code is required to create either the right or the duty of protection, and no law is necessary to distinguish slave property from any other property. All persons and all property, equally and alike, require only not to be assailed and destroyed in, or excluded from the common Territories. Every species of rights require laws, it is true, suited to their character and to their case. Personal property, for example, must have a law that it shall not be "taken and carried away;" and land, which cannot be "taken and carried away," must have a law that it shall not be trespassed upon in some other way; and so, with slaves and everything else, they must have provisions according to their kind. But the Constitution of the United States, and the laws of Congress heretofore organizing Territories are sufficient; and if amendments of the laws are required, it is the duty of Congress to see that they are provided; of the Executive of the United States to see that they are executed, and of the Judiciary to decide upon the rights under the laws. The slave States should never pretend to any peculiar privileges, and do not, so far as I know.—They ask only that their rights shall not be assailed and invaded, and, if they be assaulted, that they may be protected, as other personal and proprietary rights are protected; that they may have equal, confederate, federal privileges and immunities, and they ask for no special or peculiar Code. The sole question is, what protection does the Constitution guarantee in the Territories? We contend that it guarantees all protection required to all persons and all rights recognized within its jurisdiction. What that jurisdiction is in the Territories, we have endeavored to demonstrate.

Lastly, the United States, through Congress, owe protection not only to the people in the Territories, but to the people in the States. Intervention for protection penetrates everywhere and must not be denied anywhere.

* * * * * * *

Thus it is shown that Intervention for Protection, by the United States, through Congress, is all pervading. It penetrates into States, Territories, Districts, and other places throughout the United States, and is one of the most totally essential attributes of our blessed Federal Union. No doctrine could be more repugnant to its benign spirit, nor more destructive of Federal immunities and privileges, and none more fatal to State rights and the safety of individual persons and their property, than this new light of "Non-Intervention," to protect all and everything in the jurisdiction of the United States. It is a question which cannot be retired from discussion in Congress, where it rises up every day in every form, and where it must be met with intelligence, integrity and courage. It cannot be renounced or smothered, or the Government must relinquish its dominion over every subject of its jurisdiction.

And this doctrine of "non-intervention for protection" is only equalled in danger and destructiveness by that correlative error of some minds in these days: "That Congress may not intervene to protect; for if it has the power to protect, it has the power to destroy." This is a non sequitur, and a weak fallacy and gross delusion. The power and duty to protect is the power and duty not only not to destroy, but something far greater—it is the duty to int

LOUISVILLE ..... MAY 28, 1859.

FIELD TRIALS OF HARVESTERS.

Two field trials of Reaping and Mowing Machines have been provided for in Kentucky the present season: one by the State Agricultural Society, to be had near Lexington; the other by the Southwestern Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to take place in the vicinity of Louisville. Each is to be conducted under the supervision of officers of the respective organizations, and for both judges have been selected from among intelligent, energetic, practical farmers.—The trial grounds in either case will be good wheat fields and meadows, accurately surveyed and marked off in lots of equal size. Any one machine, therefore, can have no advantage over any other, beyond what may spring from its superiority of plan or construction, its greater facility of movement and ease of handling, or some other inherent point of excellence. The time and place of each trial will be announced on the 15th of June, by which date all entries must be made with W. D. Gallagher, Pecee Valley, who is the Corresponding Secretary of both Societies. The greatest care has been taken in the appointment of judges, and will be taken in the assignment of lots, to have a strictly fair and satisfactory trial—and such trial, we have not the slightest doubt, will be had.

Field trials of the larger articles of agricultural machinery, are important things for the farmers. An implement may appear unexceptionably good in theory or in miniature model, and yet prove worthless on the field of trial, or at least greatly inferior to other implements constructed for the same purpose, which excite far less attention until put to work in the field. This is the place which tests the merit of agricultural machinery, and farmers should insist upon, and inventors and manufacturers be always ready to promote, such trials. Descriptions, asseverations, long advertisements, and windy circulars prove nothing: but a trial in the open field, fairly conducted, shows how the grain falls and is laid, and how the grass and clover reels over and is spread—and this is what farmers want to see and know.

CLIPPINGS AND COMMENTS.

Bee Keeping.—In this immediate part of Kentucky, dry summers, cold winters, and, more especially, the bee moth, have rendered bees extremely difficult to keep, and honey one of the most uncertain of rural products. We have recently published several excellent articles touching the spring management and general care of the industrious little insect named, and here is a paragraph concerning the way in which it may be wintered, that will be new to most, and may be useful to many of our readers. The locality of this experiment was Northern Ohio, (Geauga county,) and the statement is copied from the Painesville Advertiser

An experiment in wintering bees, somewhat new, probably, was tried the past winter, by Dr. Stockton, of this village. In December last he took two swarms and buried them (in the hives) two feet under ground, leaving no air holes. To one of the swarms he allowed honey sufficient for their nourishment, and to the other swarm none. On raising the hives up, a week or so ago, he found both swarms alive, and also found the honey unmolested. Both swarms are now at work, apparently in a good condition, and as active as the bees wintered in the usual way."

Breeding Horses.—Mr. M. L. Holbrook, of Ohio is lamenting that the Northern section of that State is at present "overrun with an inferior class of horses, that ought to be exterminated," accounts for the fact by stating that the most mares are not used as breeding mares there, but, in two many cases, "worn out ones, whose service can be of little use for other purposes." He very properly cautions breeders to "cease breeding 'scrub mares,' correctly declaring that the most dependence is placed upon the character of the sire, in order to produce desired qualities in the progeny. "The sire's qualities are important, but the dam's are the less so." In the course of the communication, published in the Ohio Farmer, he makes some good discriminations, as to age, symmetry, &c., which we subjoin

"A good breed mare should possess the following qualities. Proper size, symmetry, sound constitution, and power of endurance, good action and good disposition. By size, is not meant size of the body system, but a good degree of development of all the vital organs and of the muscles. By symmetry is not meant that symmetry produced by fat, but that harmony between the different temperaments which is not disturbed when the animal is not in a high condition. By sound constitution and power of endurance, is meant a mare free from disease, with plenty of what farmers call mettle. By good action is not meant a horse which can trot a mile in 2:40, but one which can walk four or five miles per hour, and travel fifty or sixty miles per day. By good disposition is not meant a stupid animal, without life enough to be lazy, but one which, while full of energy, is yet kind and tractable. Any person having such an animal will find it to be a source of profit to make her a brood mare. With reference to the sire, it is necessary to say little. He ought to be adapted to the mare, and possessing, in a high degree, the qualities of a perfect animal. It is true we have two few such horses, and their services cannot be procured for a song; but this is the least objection one could urge."

In the May number of the Kentucky Farmer, Mr Robert W. Scott has a good article upon the treatment of brood mares and their colts, from which we extract a seasonable paragraph:

"For the selection of a male, the best general rule is to prefer one of the color, size, form, and qualities which you would like to perpetuate in the progeny. If the mare has any fault of form or disposition, a male with a like fault had better be avoided. Though some persons of good judgment breed the mare on the eighth day after foaling, the ninth day is generally preferred. Strict punctuality should be observed in having her bred for several successive periods after she has been bred and refused, and occasionally still later."

Sheep and Dogs.—In the upper part of Kentucky we observe that the dear, good-natured, profitable curs of gentlemen hunters and sporting servants, have recently been satisfying their appetites upon the blood of the woolly, muttony, worthless sheep of that section. Great times, these! Where's the "pack of 15" belonging to our sensible friend, G. M.? In Central Ohio, one wool grower, week before last, had one hundred head, worth $5 a piece, killed by dogs in a single night. Deer, delightful nocturnal depredators what's $500 to an enterprising farmer, compared with a half dozen cure or a pack of hounds, to a rural gentleman of leisure? Go it again, Tray! Pitch in, Blanche! Head 'em, hard Sweetheart! You've got the Legislature on your side, and who's afraid?

Hungarian Grass.—A gentleman recently from Iowa, informs us that this new forage crop more than holds its own in that State, and that a larger breadth than ever before will be put in the present season. We observe that Mr. A. B. Dickinson, of Central New York, writes the Country Gentleman that the Hungarian grass of last season, and the Honey blade grass of this season, "is nothing more than what millet was forty years ago." Mr. Dickinson is good authority, and this statement is strictly true. Yet, if Mr. Dickinson undertakes to say that the Hungarian grass, or Honey-blade grass, or whatever else pecnlators and speculators may choose to call it, for selfish purposes, is the variety of "millet" that he and other good farmers were familiar with "forty years ago," we undertake to say that he doesn't know what he is talking about.

Timber—Its Durability, &c.—Here is a brace of good paragraphs from the ever well-filled columns of the Ohio Farmer. We commend both of them to the especial consideration of our agricultural parishioners:

"On the score of economy, much depends on the time trees are cut, whether to be used for timber or fuel. That which is cut from the middle of July to the last of August, will last twice as long for timber or fences, and be worth fifty per cent. more for firewood than that which is cut in the fall or winter. Cut in July or August, the last running of the sap; it seasons through quickly, becomes hard and firm, and will bear far more hard usage than that cut at any other season; seasoned immediately, it is not subject to be eaten by worms, nor destroyed by dry rot, but will remain sound for years.

"This subject is particularly worthy the attention of ship builders and railroad companies, who, if economy is required, should stipulate the season when timber should be cut. A ship built of timber cut in August, will last nearly twice as long as one built of timber cut in the winter or spring; and timbers cut in the winter have become so rotten before a vessel was completed, that was in course of construction for several years, that they had to be removed, and others substituted before she was launched. But not only an economical use of timber should be exercised, but those who use it should supply more; and we would urge upon all legislatures never to charter a railroad company without a provision in the charter that the company should, within a reasonable time, plant, or set out and cultivate on each side of their road, a row of locusts, or other trees suitable and proper for ties. It would be a valuable provision for the company, furnishing them with ties at every point where needed, save our forest trees, and beautify and adorn the country."
